

FOULGER SEES NEW FOOTWEAR

Manager of Clark's Says Low
Price Reached in Eastern Markets

Manager Joseph B. Foulger of the Clark Shoe company has returned from an extensive buying and inspection trip throughout the East. He considers his trip an unusually successful one, and states that though business conditions in general were rapidly improving there, shoe prices were no lower, and in many instances not so low as they are in Ogden at the present time.

HOLD OFF BUYING.
"All the shoe factories in St. Louis," said Manager Foulger, "are running at full capacity. Merchants all over the country have held off buying until the past ten days, and now the orders are going in by every mail. At one of St. Louis' largest shoe factories it was necessary to place a guard over the stock room, as each traveling salesman would endeavor to fill the rush orders for his individual customers, and this soon caused a shortage for the regular orders held at the office of the factory. I saw orders for strap slippers and oxfords," continued Foulger, "several hundred high, waiting to be filled for immediate shipment. Factory managers in general say that prices have now reached the bottom, and already some slight advances have been made."

LOW HEEL OXFORDS.
Manager Foulger remained in Chicago several days studying styles in footwear, as well as market conditions. He stated that for street wear low heeled oxfords and shoes were worn almost entirely, and at all the larger stores strap pumps in various color shades were much in vogue. The instep strap on all the new slippers has taken the place of the old ankle strap. There was also evidence of some rather freakish styles as well, he said.

"All business houses radiated an optimistic atmosphere for the prospects of 1921."

OGDEN ARMORY PLANS REVIVED

Chamber of Commerce Officials Make Journey to See Governor

Construction work on the new Ogden armory may be delayed until action is taken on the bond issue proposed by Governor Charles Mabey. Bids recently submitted for the construction work at the new armory were far in excess of what the state had allotted for the armory and unless the proposed bond issue goes over, the work may be halted for some time. The city of Ogden has pledged the $15,000 which was necessary for the site.

Secretary C. J. Stillwell of the Ogden Chamber of Commerce and Vice President I. N. Pierce journeyed to Salt Lake today to confer with state officials on the armory.

The original plans as outlined call for an appropriation of $90,000 from the state and $15,000 from Ogden city. On account of the fact that the bids submitted were more than the amounts totaled they were rejected. Whether or not work will be started within the next three months hinges on the outcome of the state bond election, it is said.

DANCE FRIDAY FOR GIRL MISSIONARY

MISS ONELDA ANDERSON.

Miss Onelda Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Anderson, 1874 Park avenue, will leave March 8 on a mission for the L. D. S. church to the northwestern states. Her headquarters will be at Portland, Ore.

Miss Anderson has been active in auxiliary organizations of the Third ward and her work, it is declared, has been done exceptionally well. She is the third woman member of the Third ward to go on a mission.

A farewell dance in her honor will be held at the Third Ward Friday evening. Miss Anderson has been employed at the W. H. Wright & Sons store for a number of years.

PROPOSE BONUS FOR UTAHNS WHO SERVED IN WAR

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 24.—A bill proposing relief and assistance for soldiers, sailors, marines and nurses who participated in the war against Germany, has been introduced in the state lower house. It provides for an appropriation of $5,000,000 and provides that such sum should be raised by a special tax levy.

By the terms of the bill a soldier would receive $20 for every month he served subsequent to April 6, 1917, and prior to November 11, 1918.

FRENCH REASON FOR PUNISHING HUNS TOLD

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 24.—A defense of France in her determination to wring from Germany a huge reparation was made by A. C. Bedford, chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey in an address before the chamber of commerce here.

"The French people, I have known since boyhood," said Mr. Bedford, "and I have never seen them so united in one emotion as in their passionate zeal to snatch the mask from Germany and to reveal her, not as the broken bankrupt, struggling vainly to discharge her honest debts, but as France believes her to be—the crafty defaulter and despoiler, intent on winning by deceit what she failed to take from her enemies by force of arms."

"The French feel that Germany is intact and has in leash a powerful commercial machine which at the proper time will spring into action as did her military machine in 1914, and will recapture Europe's commercial prestige while her enemies are laboriously rebuilding their industrial organization. They see Germany as it was before the war, with scarcely a stone overturned, with her exchanges favorable to the resumption of foreign trade, and with her last for world domination only sharpened by her military disaster."
